

Online Transactional Analysis 101 Workshop

Mornings in Feb / March 2022

Transactional Analysis (TA) is a theory of human development, personality, and communication. It has concepts that can be learned and applied as tools for personal and professional growth and change. The underlying philosophy is one of mutual self-respect and caring and a belief in peoples' ability to be responsible think for themselves and make their own decisions.

The course is highly experiential (even virtually) with many opportunities for participants to bring their own contexts and experience and try out working with the concepts in small groups.

This course carries 12 CCE Units (core competencies) from the ICF

Trainer:

Karen Pratt has been studying and using TA since 2001. She is a Teaching and Supervising Transactional Analyst (TSTA) and is the only TSTA in Africa holding an Educational specialisation in TA. She is currently Chair of the South African Transactional Analysis Association (SATAA) and co Chair of the Professional Standards Committee of the International Board of Certification.

Karen also holds a PCC credential from the ICF, and is a member of the training staff of Coaching Development.

She has been running virtual TA training groups for the past 5 years.
